Henorable. - All of our people are familiar with John Dabney, the celebrated colored restaurateur of our city, and those who know him best place the most implicit confidence in his honor, and a circumstance which came to our knowledge a few days since proves how worthily this confidence is bestowed. Wishing to purchase his own and his wife's freedom John some years back applied to his master, who, although John as a celebrated caterer and bar-tender, was a very valuable servant, readily receded (as was the universal custom of Southorn gentlemen) to the request, and agreed to let John purchase himself and wife for many hundred dollars less than their value, and to pay him as he could make it convenient. John went to work manfully and paid for his wife, but at the close of the war still owed his master a belance of two hundred dollars on his purchase. There were not wanting advisers who, with the peculiar ideas of honesty entertained by some people, urged John not to pay the balance of the debt. "Ain't you free anyhow?" they arged, but John replied, "No, my master acted hke a gentleman to me; he let me buy myself and my wife cheap; I owe him the money honestly, and I intend to pay it. An he kept his word, and a few days ago, despite the hard times, John discharged the obligation in full. Such conduct evinces a regard for honor which would ennoble any man, and John will stand (and desrvedly) higher than ever in the estimation of every Richmond gentleman. - Richmond Enquire.

HONESTY. -An incident came to our knowledge yesterday, worthy of record, as an exceptional case of genuine honesty. A lady of this city who was temporarily residing in Raleigh, H. C., at the time of Sherman's approach to that place, was greatly exercised as the invading host drew near, to imagine what safe disposition she should make of some highly valued alver-plate in her possession. To keep it gould she thought, be to tempt the bummers to violence, to bury it would be to incur a great pich, so at last she determined to entrust its safety to the care of a family servant, who, cith his young mistresses, Misses Grege, of South Carolina, was staying in the house .-The negro took of these and other valuable schieles, and as Sherman, at last, came in sight, dipped off, and made for his old home at Columbia, S. C. Soon afterwards the lady returned to Petersburg, and as many months passed away without any news from the silver, the might be excused if some doubts arose as to the fidelity of its guardian. But a few weeks since a letter cametrom Carolina announcing the whereabouts of the servant, and the safety of the property entrusted to him, and asking directions as to the disposition to be made of it, and on one day of the past week a box arrived by Express, bringing every article. The servant's name is Pleasants, and he was a personal attendant of General Gregg. We learn that his honesty will be suitably rewarded by the lady he served .- Petersburg Index.

YALE COLLEGE. - The Faculty of Yale College recently invited B ownlow and others, of the travelling menagerie, to speak in New Haven, upon which the New York World remarks:

The officiousness of the President and several of the Faculty of Yale College, in urgently inviting the Torch-and-Turpentine Troupe to speak in New Haven upon the politics of the day, suggests the inquiry whether that venerable institution is designed to give the young men who are its patrons, what is called a liberal education, or whether it intends to inculcate, elong with "small Latin and less Greek," a large amount of the peculiar Radicalism of New England? Is it a college or a Radical political machine? In past years Yale College owed much of its prosperity to Southern patronage. at boasts among its alumni Calhoun and hundreds of distinguished Southern men who have attained the highest positions in the country. Restoration and peace, with the renewal of fraternal relations between the North and South, promised to bring once more Southern students to Old Yale. Do the faculty of Yale deliberately propose to drive such students away ?-And does President Woolsey consider Jack Hamilton a proper model to present to the young men of Yale?

at a Disunion meeting at Newark, New Jersey, on Thursday night last, Mr. A. G. Cattell is reported to have said :

The position he occupied, always responsible, cas doubly so now in view of the condition of their country. Unfortunately for them, they had to meet the question of reconstruction with the martyred Lincoln in his grave. They had to meet a man who, though elected upon the same tieket, had turned recreant to his Policy at all was an act of usurpation. The corner Queen and Union streets. Executive was the servant of the Legislature. This Mr. Cattell, who uttered this sententious opinion, was recently elected United States genetor by the Legislature of New Jersey, to all a vacancy fraudulently and unwarrantably plade by a revolutionary majority in the Senate, by the expulsion of Mr. Stockton, solely for the purpose of securing a two-thirds partisan

Couseling.—The undertaker's business is a Tonopoly in Paris, and is formed by the city late a joint stock company. It is said that the est annual report of the manager to the sharecolders of this company commenced: "Gendement the year opened badly, the general cerlth of the public was unfortunately excel lent; a change for the better took place in ceptember; we are happy to say the cholera pade its appearance in Paris and proved fatal
